FRANKLIN B. MEAD
IRISCREST
STATE AND ST. JOE BOULEVARDS
FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

Special list of iris,
C. H.

The accompanying list not only contains many attractive novelties which have never previously been listed in this country but contains some of the less recent novelties at very low prices owing to a resetting of a large portion of the garden. The quality of the stock sent out will be of the very highest and is guaranteed true to name, dug and shipped under careful personal supervision. Those varieties priced fifty cents will be furnished three for $1.00 and those priced $1.00, except in the case of Mother of Pearl and Mlle. Schwartz, will be furnished at three for $2.00. Souv. de Mme. Gaudichau, priced at $1.50, was omitted from the list through error. The terms are 25% with order, the balance June 1st.

Orders will be filled as soon as possible after flowering, which is the best time of all for transplanting iris as growth for next year's flowering begins in early summer and the plants increase and become well established before cold weather sets in. Mr. Dykes has given the criterion as to the proper time for transplanting iris and that is when root growth is active, which is only after flowering. Early spring planting and late fall planting are always accompanied with considerable loss, especially in certain modern strains.

In addition to many other novelties, very particular attention is called to the Dominion seedlings Bruno, Dominion, Canopus, Glamour, Moa, Swazi, Tenebrae, Titan and Yeoman. All of these are strong growing irises if given proper conditions. They require a fresh soil with sufficient humus, good drainage and good cultivation. Given these conditions they will all grow thriftily and they are all among the most beautiful of iris. Many of them are priced at less than they can be obtained in England; in fact one of the best, Glamour, was withdrawn from sale in England last year as the demand for it has been so great owing to its high merit. It is not surpassed in substance, texture, form, carriage and color tone.

In addition to the beautiful Siberica, Perry's Blue, large clumps of the fine, dark blue-purple Emperor are offered and the rare species Ensata, which has effective swordlike leaves of a beautiful shade of gray-green. The blooms on established plants are freely produced and are fine for cutting. This iris is particularly referred to by Reginald Farrer in The Rainbow Bridge: "And in mid-May that whole plain is a pale blue rippling sea of Iris Ensata in its loveliest Tibetan form, sweet as hyacinths and filling the air with a scent as if one were in Holland."
